

HUES OF BLUE

MLK DAY EDITION

PUBLISHER'S MESSAGE

by June Owens

Greetings!

Welcome to another edition of Hues of Blue! Thank you for taking this journey with us as we continue to provide a bridge of communication between Democratic individuals, elected officials, campaigns and organizations to diverse, underrepresented individuals. This is the 2020 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Edition!

Today marks the federally-designated holiday honoring the life and legacy of the original Dreamer, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. King tirelessly gave of himself in the fight for civil rights using his voice and influence to make a difference, move the needle and change hearts.

Dr. King said it best, "Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'What are you doing for others?'" Dr. King lead a life of sacrifice and service and has left as part of his enduring legacy a sense of urgency to give of our time, talents and treasures in service to make a difference in our world, our nation, our communities and into the lives of others. This is why Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday is a Day On and not a Day Off. It is why it is important that we must honor Dr. King's legacy by honoring this holiday by a day of service.

We know that each and every day Democrats are showing up and speaking out about those issues that impact the lives of others—whether it is about affordable housing, access to quality healthcare or earning a living wage, Democrats are being elected and running for office to continue to move the needle on issues that people are discussing around their kitchen table and impacting their families, friends and neighbors. Democrats are not only fighting in the schoolhouse, courthouse or statehouse, but Democrats are giving of themselves by serving to give back through charitable endeavors including, but not limited to: providing food to food pantries, donating hygiene products to new refugee and immigrant families and providing warm winter wear to schoolchildren in need in zip codes with few resources.

Today on King Holiday, how will you honor the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. through your service? Will you donate canned goods to a local food pantry or help shovel an elderly neighbor's sidewalk? Will you read a book about Dr. King's work or perhaps celebrate his legacy by attending a community event honoring his life? Will you help a young person get registered to vote or bring your neighbors with you to a political forum to engage candidates about matters that impact you and your community? After all, per Dr. King, "Voting is the foundation of political action."

Today is a day on! Let us march on, move forward and continue to strive to make Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s Dream come to pass.

PETE'S DOUGLASS PLAN,
the most comprehensive proposal so far from any other presidential candidate, will tear down racist structures and institutions - and in their place invest in Black America.

- Create a $10 billion fund to invest in underrepresented entrepreneurs and award 25% of federal contracting dollars—totaling $100 billion—to small business owners from underrepresented groups, including the Black and Latino communities. He will also reduce discrimination in business lending.
- Triple the number of Black business owners in 10 years and increase funding for HBCUs by $50 billion.
- Address injustice in health by creating Health Equity Zones so communities with significant health disparities get greater resources.
- Ensure every voice is heard by ending racist voter suppression laws and enacting reforms that will create greater access to voting like automatic voter registration.

ELIZABETH WARREN

GREW UP ON THE RAGGED
EDGE OF THE MIDDLE CLASS IN OKLAHOMA. NOW,

SHE'S RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT

TO FIGHT FOR A DEMOCRACY
THAT WORKS

FOR ALL OF US.

Like most of us, Elizabeth Warren's life hasn't followed a straight path. She grew up in Oklahoma, and her family came an inch from losing their house after her dad's heart attack. But her mom got a minimum-wage job at Sears, and it saved their family.

As a working mom, Elizabeth couldn't find quality child care — and thought she'd have to quit her job — until her Aunt Bee showed up with seven suitcases and her dog, and stayed to help Elizabeth balance motherhood and work.

ELIZABETH WARREN HAS SPENT DECADES FIGHTING FOR MIDDLE-CLASS FAMILIES.

Elizabeth has dedicated her career to studying why middle-class families are going broke, becoming a national expert.

And when she saw big banks and giant corporations rigging the rules in Washington, she decided to fight back.

After Wall Street crashed our economy, she fought to create the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau to protect us from being scammed by big banks. She never planned to enter politics, but when Senate Republicans tried to sabotage the CFPB and Wall Street reform, she ran against one of them — and won.

Elizabeth Warren has never stopped fighting for working people, and she's ready to take that fight to the White House.
